Organic chemistry poster symposium

7 December 2026 | London, UK

Sponsorship menu

The poster symposium is one of the RSC Organic Community's flagship events. The competitive symposium brings together outstanding organic chemistry PhD students from across the UK and Ireland to present their work to invited representatives from industry and academia. Prizes are awarded to the best posters. Dedicated to poster presentations, the symposium provides a fantastic opportunity for final year organic chemistry PhD students to showcase their research and network with peers, leading academics, and industrial chemists.

The funds raised from sponsorship enables the students to participate in the event free of charge and supports their travel expenses.
