

Faraday Community poster symposium

30 November 2026 | London, UK

Sponsorship menu

The Faraday Community poster symposium (FCPS) is the Faraday Community for Physical Chemistry's flagship event for early career scientists.

The FCPS brings together outstanding PhD students, post-doctoral researchers and early-career scientists working in industry. It provides a fantastic opportunity for scientists in the early stages of their careers to present and showcase their work to peers, leading academics, RSC prize winners and industry representatives.

FCPS provides the opportunity to forge relationships and networks that will enhance and define careers. Many attendees go on to senior roles in industry and academia.

Take advantage of the sponsorship options to promote your organisation or careers opportunities to this high-potential pool of researchers. The funds raised from sponsorship will enable early career scientists to attend and participate in the event free of charge.
