

Materials chemistry poster symposium

14 December 2026 | Burlington House, London, UK

Sponsorship menu

The Materials chemistry poster symposium is the Material Chemistry Community's flagship event for early career researchers and this year celebrates its 10th anniversary. The symposium brings together PhD students, post doctoral researchers and early-career industrial researchers. It provides a fantastic opportunity to present and showcase their work to peers, leading academics, RSC prize winners and industry representatives.

The poster symposium provides the opportunity to forge relationships and networks that will enhance and define careers. Many attendees go on to senior roles in industry and academia.

Take advantage of the sponsorship options to promote your organisation or careers opportunities to this high-potential pool of researchers. The funds raised from sponsorship will enable early career scientists to attend and participate in the event free of charge.
