

21st International Symposium on Macrocyclic and Supramolecular Chemistry (ISMSC)

5-9 September 2027 | Birmingham, UK

Sponsorship menu

The International Symposium on Macrocyclic and Supramolecular Chemistry (ISMSC) is the premier international conference in the field of supramolecular chemistry. Expected to attract 500-600 international delegates, ISMSC 2027 will showcase the very best international speakers and cutting-edge research across the following themes:

- Systems chemistry (including non-equilibrium and stimuli responsive)
- Molecular machines, switches and sensors
- New technologies for supramolecular chemistry - synthesis and modelling
- Supramolecular chemistry in chemical biology
- Coordination chemistry and cages
- Physical methods and fundamental interactions
- Sustainable supramolecular chemistry
- Applied supramolecular chemistry and industrial links

ISMSC 2027 offers a leading international platform to connect with the supramolecular chemistry community, bringing together academic and industry researchers from around the world. Sponsorship opportunities are designed to maximise visibility, networking opportunities, and meaningful engagement with this highly targeted audience.
